Posted by: John Campbell at 1:51 PM Now, its time to discuss one of those major issues of the week (well at least if you are a sports fan). I am ready to announce my Final Four picks. And just so that you know I am objective, I have to confess I left off my two alma matters UCLA (Bachelors in... Now, its time to discuss one of those major issues of the week (well at least if you are a sports fan). I am ready to announce my Final Four picks. And just so that you know I am objective, I have to confess I left off my two alma matters UCLA (Bachelors in Economics) and USC (Masters in Taxation). I would love to see them make it all the way, but I just don't think they will. Just a warning, my knowledge of college hoops is not at the level of my knowledge of fiscal matters. Anyway here are my picks:

Kansas

Georgetown

Florida

Memphis