Yesterday in response to my post on the Greeneyeshade Blog, a reader made a very observant and pithy comment that I wanted to share with the rest of you:

"So, let me make sure I get this correct…We're going to pass a health care plan written by a committee, whose head says he doesn't understand it, passed by a Congress that hasn't read it but exempts themselves from it, signed by a president that also hasn't read it, and who smokes, with funding administered by a treasury chief who didn't pay his taxes, overseen by a surgeon general who is obese, and financed by a country that's nearly broke.

What possibly could go wrong?"

I also want to draw your attention to a new tool that House Republicans are using in the debate on Speaker Pelosi's government takeover of healthcare. This website allows you to scrutinize the 1,990 pages of Pelosi's bill right along with Members of Congress. I think you will find it particularly useful. See the link below.
