

Posted by: John Campbell at 10:51 AM This just in, but more to come throughout the day. I'm at the House Budget Committee where we are debating next year's budget. The Democrats have just laid out their proposal. It is a complete sham. They make a lot of expensive promises, but offer no way... This just in, but more to come throughout the day. I'm at the House Budget Committee where we are debating next year's budget. The Democrats have just laid out their proposal. It is a complete sham. They make a lot of expensive promises, but offer no ways to pay for them. The only guarantee in this budget is that it will lead to the largest tax increase in the history of the United States.

Looking at the supplemental and the budget it is easy to see that the Democrats aren't even trying to hide that they are still the same tax and spend party they have always been.